Greetings,

The DoJ proposed settlement is a very bad idea. It is paltry, not even a slap on the wrist, a sell-out. We spent millions convicting a corrupt and abusive company for damages done to competition and innovation, only to sell out when state coffers need a little cash.

If this is the way US companies get off, the same DoJ will probably give Walker a walk, too.

It took 8 years to get rid of a bumpkin in the Whitehouse, is it going to take that long to get rid of a DoJ-for rent?
